

The Parting of the Red Sea

(Exodus 14:10–22)

When Pharaoh and his army drew closer to where Moses and the children of Israel were, they were terrified and cried out to God for help.

Moses said to the people, “Don’t be afraid. Stand still, and see what God will do today to save you. You will never see the Egyptians again. The Lord will fight for you.”

Moses held out his hand over the sea, and God sent a strong wind all through the night that caused the sea to move away, turning the sea into dry land, dividing the waters.

The children of Israel walked into the middle of the sea on dry ground. The sea waters were a wall for them on their right and on their left.
