

Paul Appears Before King Agrippa

(Acts 21–25)

Passing through the city of Tyre, Paul also spent time there with the disciples. The disciples at Tyre continually warned Paul that it was dangerous for him to go to Jerusalem. However, he continued traveling to Jerusalem.

When he passed through Caesarea, a prophet named Agabus took Paul's belt and bound his hands and feet, warning Paul that this is what would happen to him if he went to Jerusalem. But Paul said he was willing to die in Jerusalem for the name of Jesus.

One day, after he visited the temple in Jerusalem, a group of angry men surrounded Paul and dragged him out of the temple. They would have killed Paul, but the Roman authorities intervened, and Paul was taken to prison in Caesarea.

Paul took full advantage of this time to tell many about Jesus, including Festus, the Roman governor, and King Agrippa. While examining Paul, both Festus and King Agrippa found him innocent of the accusations.

However, because Paul had appealed to Caesar Augustus, he was then sent to Rome to be tried in Caesar's court.

frame parts

Part to glue on the back after attaching a string.
(See illustrated instructions.)

Paul Appears Before King Agrippa

(Acts 21–25)

Passing through the city of Tyre, Paul also spent time there with the disciples. The disciples at Tyre continually warned Paul that it was dangerous for him to go to Jerusalem. However, he continued traveling to Jerusalem.

When he passed through Caesarea, a prophet named Agabus took Paul's belt and bound his hands and feet, warning Paul that this is what would happen to him if he went to Jerusalem. But Paul said he was willing to die in Jerusalem for the name of Jesus.

One day, after he visited the temple in Jerusalem, a group of angry men surrounded Paul and dragged him out of the temple. They would have killed Paul, but the Roman authorities intervened, and Paul was taken to prison in Caesarea.

Paul took full advantage of this time to tell many about Jesus, including Festus, the Roman governor, and King Agrippa. While examining Paul, both Festus and King Agrippa found him innocent of the accusations.

However, because Paul had appealed to Caesar Augustus, he was then sent to Rome to be tried in Caesar's court.

frame parts

Part to glue on the back after attaching a string.
(See illustrated instructions.)