

Isaiah describes a vision he has of God: "I saw the Lord sitting upon a throne, with His glory filling the temple. Around him were two angels, each with six wings. Two wings covered their faces, two wings covered their feet, and with two wings they flew."¹

Holy, holy, holy is the Lord!

Who will give My message to the people?

I am willing,
Lord. You can send me.²

Isaiah was an important prophet of God to the people of the nation of Judah during the reign of four of Judah's kings: Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah during the 8th and 7th centuries BCE.³

God asked Isaiah to tell the people of Judah to turn away from worshipping idols and to return to living their lives the way He wanted them to; to love and honor God and show love and mercy. Isaiah's prophecies are found in the Bible in the book of Isaiah.

¹ Isaiah 6:1–3, paraphrased

² Isaiah 6:8, paraphrased

³ BCE refers to "Before Common Era," also known as BC (Before Christ).

Faith-filled Models from the Old Testament:

Isaiah,
the Prophet

Among the many prophecies God gave through Isaiah, there were several important prophecies about Jesus that were given hundreds of years before He was born. One of the prophecies was about His birth.

“Behold, a young woman will have a baby boy that would not be the son of a man, but will be God’s child. He will be called ‘Emmanuel,’ which means ‘God with us.’” (Isaiah 7:14, paraphrased)

One of the most amazing prophecies that Isaiah gave about Jesus is recorded in Isaiah 53.

“He was wounded and bruised for our sins, and with His wounds we are healed” (Isaiah 53:5, paraphrased).

Isaiah also described a beautiful vision of what life will be like in the future when Jesus rules the world. “The wolf will lie with the lamb, and a leopard with a kid goat, and a calf and a lion will be together, with a little child leading them” (Isaiah 11:6, paraphrased).

