

The Slave Girl and Officer Naaman

Based on 2 Kings 5:1–4, and 9–14.

Naaman, an important officer in the ancient Syrian army of Old Testament days, suffered from a serious incurable skin disease. A young Jewish girl who was serving in Naaman's house said to her mistress, "My master should visit the prophet who lives in Samaria. The prophet could cure my master of his skin disease."

So Naaman rode his horses and chariot to the house of the prophet Elisha. When he arrived, Elisha sent his servant to tell Naaman to wash himself in the Jordan River seven times.

At first Naaman was humiliated to be asked to do something that seemed too simple. However, his personal servant told him, "Sir, if the prophet had told you to do something difficult, you would have done it. Now, you must only wash yourself, as he said, and be cured."

Naaman did what Elisha had told him to do and was completely cured. This all came about due to the young servant girl's faith in God's power to heal, who then told her mistress about the prophet Elisha.
